FOR HANDS ON THE FRONT LINE

In 1918 John Watson founded Watson Gloves in one of the more challenging years in Canadian history, 1918, six months before WW1 ended. Twenty one Years later when WW2 threatened Canada with an economic crisis, existing manufacturing orders were canceled, some factories shut down and construction halted on many pre-war civilian projects; However, manufacturers creating supplies for the war efforts needed quality hand protection. It was challenging for Watson to find young workers throughout the two wars to help make gloves as many were off to fight, but older men and woman filled the positions until the boys got back. John Watson promised their jobs would still be there. 100 years later and we remember. We remember our veterans who fought for our country. We remember where our company began and how we got to where we are today.

Family is extremely important to our company as well as giving back to our community. We are proud to support Wounded Warriors Canada, an organization that supports ill and injured Canadian Armed Forces members, veterans, first responders and their families. To show our support we are donating part of the proceeds for every #5785/5785G Shock Trooper and #585 Commander glove that we sell. It's one way for us to say thank you.
